Mini Transducer for the Little Alien

Posted originally on the Archive of Our Own at http://archiveofourown.org/works/52911673.

Rating:
General Audiences

Archive Warning:
No Archive Warnings Apply

Category:
Gen

Fandoms:
The Girl From Tomorrow (TV), Pikmin (Video Game)

Relationship:
Alana (The Girl From Tomorrow) & Olimar (Pikmin)

Characters:
Olimar (Pikmin), Alana (The Girl From Tomorrow), Original Child Character(s)

Additional Tags:
Some Plot, Earth, Future, Transducer, Friendship, Aliens, Crossover, Crossovers & Fandom Fusions, Emotions, Training, Happy Ending, POV Third Person, Technology, Wordcount: 100-500, One Shot, Crystals, Headbands

Language:
English

Stats:
Published: 2024-01-08 Words: 337 Chapters: 1/1

Mini Transducer for the Little Alien

by MiaQc

Summary

Short story. When Captain Olimar finds himself on planet Earth in the year 3000, its inhabitants welcome him with joy.

- A translation of Mini Transkinèse pour le petit alien by MiaQc

When Captain Olimar finds himself on planet Earth in the year 3000, its inhabitants welcome him with joy. Not only do they invent a breathing mask for him, so Olimar can wear casual clothes while keeping his life support, but they teach him how to use a Transducer. A mini Transducer created just for him.

The Transducer is a kind of headband worn over the forehead, like a tiara. It has a teardrop-shaped black plate in the middle. On this plate is a round transparent crystal.

The Transducer focuses the power of the mind, enabling his/her user to levitate objects, heal wounds and interact with futuristic devices.

At first, Olimar has difficulty using his Transducer, even with the help of Alana and several children.

"He doesn't concentrate hard enough." A little boy told him.

"You have to concentrate!" A little girl told him.

"The Transducer is a tool for projecting your mental energy." Alana, a 14-year-old teenager and healer in training, had explained to him. "You have to feel that energy before you concentrate. It's a psychic state to achieve."

Despite this, Olimar isn't the type to give up. After days and days of practice, he manages to put himself in the right psychic state to project his mental energy. When he manages to levitate an apple, Olimar can't contain his joy. He jumps, runs and screams like a child discovering his presents at Christmas.

His behavior upset some people from the year 3000 as they have been used to controlling their emotions from an early age. Alana is an exception but she won't say why she has learned to respect expressing joy, sadness or anger. Thus Alana talks to those who have been offended by Olimar's behavior. That solves the problem.

When Captain Olimar returns to Hocotate with his mini Transducer, he can't wait to show it off and tell all about what he's discovered on this planet. Yet he's sure he's already known a planet called Earth. Could there be more than one? Hm.

Please drop by the Archive and comment to let the creator know if you enjoyed their work!